

Application for Membership

(applications received after 1 October are assigned to the next calendar year; all benefits other than publications are available immediately)

The Royal Musical Association is the foremost professional association in Britain within the subject of music and musicology. Many of the most distinguished scholars, performers, and composers are members of the RMA, and the Association also does much to support the work of postgraduate music students in universities and conservatoires across the UK.

Benefits of membership

- Free printed copy of and online access to the twice-yearly Journal of the Royal Musical Association
- Free printed copy of and online access to the annual Royal Musical Association Research Chronicle
- Free printed copy of and online access to the twice-yearly Newsletter, including reports of conferences and Study Days
- Free monthly e-mail Bulletin, providing up-to-date information about news, events, and other benefits
- Free online access to the Directory of Members (printout available on request)
- Free online access to professional advice on subjects including getting published and organizing conferences and Study Days
- Discounted online access to research, learning, and teaching resources
- Discounts of up to 20 per cent on publications from a wide range of scholarly publishers
- Discounted fees for RMA-organized and RMA-supported conferences
